INDIEN – West Bengal
The School for the Blind

Dear Friends and Supporters

Raj, whose father is now deceased and who has taken over the administrative work of the School for Blind Children, which SB-Foundation regularly support in Cooch Behar, sends greetings that the school is fully operational. He says further that “The students are doing well both with their studies and in their daily life. The government of West Bengal has a new initiative to improve life for female students. In cooperation with other schools, we organized a special exhibit. Our student worked on and presented an environmental project.”

The school also arranged for a health exam. Two physicians performed check-ups on all the students individually.

Here the students celebrate “World Teachers’ Day” (October 5)

On International Literacy Day, which was organized by the education department, students from the School for Blind Children had the honor of performing the opening song.

A warm thank you from both the School for Blind Children and the SB-Foundation via us on the Board, Arne, Elisabeth, Gloria, Lena, Roger
