BELARUS – Summer
Camp at closed (or “total”) institutions

Dear Friends and Supporters,

Alexey, CEO of WWB A fine example of typical buildings in Belarus, these in the village of Krivic where one institution is located

Ever since Tanya Poevskoya founded World Without Borders (WWB) in 2004, SB Foundation has supported WWB’s work inside closed (or total) institutions, i.e., youth prisons and orphanages in Belarus, where WWB has impressive undertakings in both male and female institutions. Because of the Covid-19 pandemic, among other reasons, SB Foundation has not been able to assist WWB for a few years, but this year we were able to resume the financial support for the “summer camp,” where different activities are organized. The youth learnt self-awareness, to show empathy to others, to integrate, to cook, paint, watch films and discuss them, do sports and compete. They also hear about the love of God and that each one of them is loved by him. Experienced incarcerated youth told the volunteers who organized the activities: “You can never imagine how we felt when you arrived here. You flooded us with support and positivity that we will savor for a long time and that will also help us later in life.” Even several parents expressed their gratitude when the youngsters told them about the camp. In order for people to develop, they need to feel love, appreciation, and understanding. SB Foundation wants to participate in instilling such sentiments in these young people.

Warm greetings from SB Foundation via us on the Board, Arne, Elisabeth, Gloria, Lena, Roger
